COVID-19: MORRIS COUNTY AND JERSEY CARES OFFER GROCERY SHOPPING FOR SENIORS AND DISABLED RESIDENTS

Sign up to be a Volunteer Shopper for this COVID-19 Program

The Morris County Office on Aging, Disabilities, and Community Programming is partnering with nonprofit Jersey Cares to provide volunteers to do grocery shopping for older or disabled residents across all of Morris County.

The program will keep persons most vulnerable to COVID-19 out of harms way in supermarkets and other food markets. Eligible participants must be either over age 60 or be disabled and between ages 18-to-59 and in need of shopping assistance.

Consumers can call the ADRC hotline at 973-285-6848 or 1-800-564-4656, and request volunteer shopper assistance. Volunteers have been vetted by Jersey Cares and are ready to serve Morris County residents.

“We are very glad to have county government partner with Jersey Cares in this important response to the COVID-19 crisis, which has especially impacted our older and disabled populations here in Morris County,” said Freeholder Kathy DeFillippo, the county governing board’s liaison on social services issues.

“Jersey Cares is proud to offer this program in Morris County. While we developed the program in response to a critical COVID-19 need, we realized this need has always been there,” said Michele Epifani, vice president of programs for Jersey Cares.

“The Seniors are wonderful to work with and always so grateful for the service,” she added, saying their volunteers are eager to get started on this new joint effort with the county.

Program participants are required to provide contact information, a grocery list, and a maximum budget for each shopping trip. More specific program information will be provided when participants call for the service.

Jersey Cares, a nonprofit organization that was established in 1993, recruits and engages volunteers in projects that address community-identified needs.
